

POWER COIR

Power Coir is a specialised coconut fibre media designed for growing high quality plants that require an intermediate media to Classic Coir and Profit Coir. The combination of these two products produces a media which has lowered Air Filled Porosity (AFP) to Profit Coir but a slightly higher Water Holding Capacity (WHC).

Characteristics

Produced from entirely organic renewable resources

High quality consistent product

Produced from cut and crushed coconut husk as well as sieved pith

Profit portion is uniquely pre-washed with Calcium and Magnesium feeding solution to Dutch RHP standards

Used for plants that require an intermediate porosity and water holding to both Classic Coir and Profit Coir

Increases water use efficiency

Good Air Filled Porosity (AFP)

Minimum reaction with nutrient solutions

Easy to re-hydrate and steer pH, EC and moisture contents

A generative medium

Very stable structure

A variety of product sizes available

Technical:

pH 5.5 – 6.0

EC (mS/cm) 1.0

Air / Water Ratio at 7cm 25%/ 75%

Pack sizes:

4.5 kg bales (63L reconstituted)

A variety of slab sizes made to measure with pre cut drain and planting holes

PB18 blocks

Power Coir is an excellent substrate for growing commercial vegetable and flower crops for plants that do not like wet feet but require a lowered amount of air when compared to Profit Coir. Power Coir is created using a combination of Classic Coir and Profit Coir to produce an intermediate product with excellent Water Holding Capacity (WHC) but high Air Filled Porosity (AFP).

Root growth is excellent in this media and plants such as roses grow well in this product. A variety of product sizes are available from the 4.5 kg bale to specialised slabs. All products are light and easy to handle and re-hydration is simple. Technical advice is available for this product from our technical consultants in Holland.
